Over the past five decades, OPERA America has awarded over $23 million to opera companies and artists across North America. Since 1984, OPERA America has been committed to increasing the quality and quantity of North American opera, providing financial support to Professional Company Members in such areas as new work and audience development, civic practice, co-productions, innovation, and gender parity in key artistic leadership roles.

Since 2009, OPERA America has offered grants directly to composers and librettists from all performing arts disciplines who may be new to the opera field. The emphasis of individual artist grants is on advancing the careers of women composers and creators from the global majority.

OPERA America believes that different perspectives, cultural histories, life experiences, and personal stories enrich the operatic repertoire. OPERA America is dedicated to supporting creators who reflect the diversity of the nation.

Opera Grants for Women Composers

Through the generous support of the Virginia B. Toulmin Foundation, OPERA America offers two types of Opera Grants for Women Composers: Commissioning Grants available to Professional Company Members; and Discovery Grants available to individual artists. Both programs provide support for the development of new operas by women composers, advancing the important objective to increase gender parity and diversity across the field.

Purpose of Discovery Grants

Opera Grants for Women Composers: Discovery Grants support the exploration of opera as an artistic medium by composers who identify as women through such activities as:

- A Libretto Reading: a reading in which the devised literature is read aloud for evaluation.
- A Workshop: an informal performance of some or all of a work to obtain feedback on specific elements of the piece. Workshops might be performed with piano and/or instrumental accompaniment.
- Working Performance: a partial or full run-through of a work, with piano or instrumental accompaniment, to obtain feedback for the further development of the piece. An audience may or may not be present.

Other eligible expenses include but are not limited to:

- Costs incurred to create or prepare new musical materials, such as expanded or reduced orchestrations and copyist expenses for the creation of parts;
- Other specific expenses associated with the development of a new opera;
- Production design development; and
- Dynamic promotional materials.

Projects that are more fully developed will be given priority in determining funding.

Definitions

Opera

OPERA America defines opera as a music-theater experience with a dramatic arc written for trained voice(s) of all genres and accompanied by instruments.

Composer and Librettist

In this document, the author of the music will be referred to as the composer, and the author of the text will be referred to as the librettist, although applicants may have prior experience as songwriters, poets, or playwrights.

Grant Awards

Grant recipients will receive:

- Up to $15,000 per applicant to support costs associated with the Discovery Grant;
- Complimentary registrations, transportation, and housing stipend (valued at $2,250) for the applicant to attend OPERA America's 2025 and 2026 Opera Conferences;
- Access to professional development programs for artists, including the New Works Forum and Opera Entrepreneurship Workshops;
- Recognition through Opera America Magazine; and
- An OPERA America individual membership.

The applicant must serve as the fiscal agent for the project. The composer must apply for the grant, disburse all funds received, and provide all required financial and narrative documentation. The fiscal agent will receive a 1099 tax form at the end of the calendar year(s). This is for tax purposes. Awardees should consult a tax professional as necessary.

There are five “Other” lines in each budgetary section to add other expenses if necessary.

Application Review

All final applications for the Opera Grants for Women Composers: Discovery Grants are reviewed by an independent panel of experts approved by the board of directors of OPERA America. The panel will consist of professionals of varied races and ethnicities, as well as gender identities, with different areas of expertise and experience with diverse musical styles, as well as producers from OPERA America member companies. Panelists are also selected to reflect geographic diversity.

No current OPERA America board member or employee may serve on the panel. Individuals who stand to benefit from a grant are also ineligible to serve.

All panel decisions are final.

Using the following criteria, panelists evaluate the applications through a cultural humility lens, which is a practice of honoring the cultural values and perspectives of the applicants while self-reflecting on how one’s own background and the background of others impact the review of applications.

- Artistic Ability: The artistic quality of the creative team and the proposed work based on the application and samples provided.
- Quality and Distinction in Concept and Planning: The appropriateness, effectiveness, and thoroughness of the planning process guiding the proposed activity.
- Evaluation: The articulation of realistic and achievable goals for evaluating the proposed project, as well as the development process during the grant period.

Award Announcement

- All applicants will be notified of the outcome of their requests after the panel completes its review.
- Applicants who do not receive an award may schedule a 15-minute call with OPERA America staff to receive application feedback.
- All award agreements will contain a start date and an end date for the grant period.
- Money not expended at the end of the grant period will revert to OPERA America unless an extension of the grant period is secured. Requests for extensions must be made in writing.
- Advances of up to 75 percent of the grant amount are typically extended upon request after submitting a signed award agreement and revised budget and participating in an orientation interview.

- The balance of the grant will be paid upon satisfactory completion of the narrative and financial reporting requirements and a final interview with OPERA America staff.
- Opera Grants for Women Composer: Discovery Grants are restricted to the project described in the application. Funds advanced to the grantee by OPERA America must be repaid in the event the approved project is not carried out.
- The receipt of a grant at any stage of a project or activity does not guarantee continued support from OPERA America.
- The Opera Grants for Women Composer: Discovery award is intended for the named awardee(s) only and is not transferable to any other artist or organization.

Reporting Requirements

Successful applicants will receive an award agreement explaining the grant's terms and conditions, including required narrative and financial documentation.

The first payment installment, which may not exceed 75% of the total grant, may be requested after the awardee uploads to OPERA America's Grants Portal a signed award agreement and an updated budget and participates in a 15-minute orientation call with the OPERA America staff.

All reporting requirements must be completed before the grant will be fully paid; this includes uploading a final narrative and budget documentation and participating in a final interview. All reports will be reviewed by OPERA America staff.

Opera Grants for Women Composers: Discovery Grant recipients may be asked to submit additional documentation or cooperate with OPERA America in sharing the results of their projects with the field both during and after the grant period. Applicants may be invited to provide information on the results of projects, even when not supported by an Opera Grants for Women Composers: Discovery Grant.

Awardees are required to acknowledge OPERA America and other funders, including the Virginia B. Toulmin Foundation, in the manner described by OPERA America in the award agreement. Recognition of the awarded project is required in all print and digital materials distributed to the press and general public. Proof of these acknowledgments is necessary for the final payment of the grant to be processed. Recipients of Opera Grants for Women Composers: Discovery Grants must maintain OPERA America's logo, including a hyperlink to OPERA America's website, in a prominent location on their websites.
